The Louisville Post has done good work for the Democratic party this time.

Former Governor A. E. Willson had a fainting spell in Louisville, due to indigestion.

The tobacco pooling act of Kentucky is in the Supreme Court for decision this week.

Several Hopkinsville young men are scheduled to save $10 in income taxes this month.

Vanderbilt's football team was defeated by Virginia, at Charlottesville, Saturday 34 to 0.

Lexington, Ky., and Nashville, Tenn., have had daily newspaper failures within the last ten days.

Gen. Diaz decided that the Vera Cruz he didn't want to make was one that would land him on Mexican soil.

Tammany must be hard pressed indeed. Rotten eggs were thrown at Sulzer Saturday night, while he was speaking against Tammany.

In spite of all that was proven on Sulzer, public sentiment is with him in his present fight against Tammany, and so are the betting odds.

Betting odds are four to one on Mitchel, fusion Democrat, in New York City. Sulzer is a leader in the fight against McCall, the Tammany Democrat.

Mrs. C. C. Coffin, President of the Housewives League at San Francisco, says husbands will stay at home better if their wives will learn to be good cooks.

The business section of Jackson, Ky., was burned Saturday. The postoffice, a hotel, two churches and 20 residences were burned, entailing a loss of $150,000.

A Chicago actress noted for her wonderful memory has just caught a husband. He'll have to keep a written record of the excuses he gives for being out at night.

The resignation of John C. Duffy as County Attorney took effect Saturday. Unless he is elected representative today, he will probably be re-appointed for the rest of the year.

The Nashville Democrat, started Sept. 20, 1911, suspended publication Nov. 2, after a losing experience of little more than two years. The plant was purchased for $30,000, about half its value, by the Tennesseean, owned by Senator Luke Lea, which will fill out its unexpired subscription. This leaves the Tennesseean the only morning paper in Nashville.

Sara A. Padden, an actress born in the Stockyards district of Chicago, has just married Geo. C. Sackett, a theatrical man. Miss Padden was remarkable for her wonderful memory. She first attracted attention through her ability to learn lines quickly. As an understudy she would learn the lines of one scene while standing in the "wings" of a theater, and between acts learn the lines of succeeding scenes. This gave her the nickname of "Paddy the Line Eater."

Here's the proposition in a nutshell: If your net income, not including an official salary, is $5,000 a year, you owe the government, if you are a married man $10 and if you are unmarried $20 income tax. And the government holds the man who pays you the money responsible for the tax as a withholding agent. Pungle up boys, they've got you. Let's see, here in Hopkinsville, we have the following list of prosperous citizens who are caught—but on second thought we will not name them.

TWO PRETTY AIR FLIGHTS

Aviation Meet Closed Sunday Afternoon By DeLloyd Thompson.

SECOND TRIP ONE-HALF MILE

Sabbath Desecration Plea is Raised by More Strict Observers.

Aviator DeLloyd Thompson made two ascensions from the fair grounds Sunday afternoon. In the first flight he left the earth at a quarter past 3 o'clock and was up in the air eight minutes. It was a beautiful flight but no attempt was made at thrills. The second ascension was prettier than the first. He kept climbing up and up and reached an altitude of over half a mile, the measuring apparatus registering 3,200 feet.

Mr. Thompson did not attempt the upside-down act, but his dips and spirals were beautiful. When he came down he did it as gracefully as a bird alighting in a tree.

The ascensions were witnessed by probably 2,000 people, most of them being on the outside of the fair grounds and all places where a good view could be obtained of the airship as it arose were dotted with people, old and young, white and black. If Mr. Thompson could have pocketed a quarter for everybody who saw his ascensions he would be several hundred dollars on toward the sum he covets before retiring from the aviation field.

Word that the ascension would be made Sunday afternoon was circulated Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning. Some people looked upon it as a desecration of the Sabbath and, we learn, that some of the more rigid observers made an attempt to shut Mr. Thompson off some time in the afternoon. The authority of the President of the Fair Company was invoked, it is said, but his order not to allow the aviator to make his flights was secured too late.

As the grounds are outside the city limits the city authorities had no jurisdiction. An order from County Judge Knight would have nipped the exhibition in the bud, but he was twenty miles from the city Saturday beating about the bushes in his campaign and had a breakdown at night, which caused him to get home late Sunday morning and after taking a sleep Sunday afternoon he went out for a drive and didn't get home until after the ascensions had been made. So all protests went by default and Mr. Thompson took in enough shekels to help some toward paying his expenses for the five days he was here.

Many people who observe the Sabbath say that running a motor that takes a man for a ride in the air is no more a desecration than the one who runs his motor car for a trip over the country. The only difference being that the aviator flies for pay and the automobilist rides for pleasure, but often in a hired machine.

Helped Save Two.

Mrs. John Lind, wife of the American envoy, on leaving Mexico, concealed two fugitive members of the chamber of deputies, in her state-room on the Morro Castle, until they left Mexican waters. She remained outside while the search was in progress. They are now in New York.

DOING NO TALKING

The Mexican Situation Has Undergone No Change Whatever.

PRES. HUERTA THE HITCH

Policy of Silence and Waiting Is Being Observed at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 3.—Though every official of the United States government has been cautioned to maintain absolute silence while the plans of the Washington administration for solving the Mexican problem are worked out, it became known from many well informed sources today that a supreme effort is being made to bring about Huerta's retirement from the provisional presidency.

Should Huerta retire in favor of another there is a possibility that the United States may attempt to compose the situation through his successor.

AT MURRAY NEXT

Judge Hanbery Will Take a Week's Needed Rest.

Every case on the docket that was scheduled to be disposed of during the six weeks' term of Circuit Court was handled before Judge Hanbery formally adjourned for the term last Saturday. The Judge had a heavy docket to begin with when the court convened, but with his characteristic energy and economy of time he managed to keep up his record, harder than usual to do on account of the hot political campaign brought to a close Saturday night. Judge Hanbery hasn't been well for several days and ought to have taken to his room for a season, but he says he has never called on the Governor to name a man to assist him and will not as long as he is able to get about.

He will vote today early and rest up before beginning court at Murray for a three weeks' term. After holding court at Murray he will go to Eddyville for a two weeks' term, and will then have holiday until the first week in January. He will hand down several decisions, Wednesday carried over, the library case being one of them.

BUGGY SMASHED

By Horse Being Frightened At Noise of Aeroplane.

While watching the aeroplane Wednesday afternoon, Dr. T. D. Rudd, Mrs. Rudd and their seven-year-old son, Arthur, almost miraculously escaped injury when the horse reared and fell backward on the buggy, in which they were seated. The aeroplane was directly over their heads near the fair grounds and the horse became frightened at the noise of the engine. The dash board was broken, one wheel collapsed, both shafts were broken and several spokes in another wheel were broken. Nobody was hurt and even the horse was not injured.

Meeting at Locust Grove.

A protracted meeting began Sunday at Locust Grove Baptist church, near Caledonia. Rev. Terry T. Martin, of Jackson, Tenn., will assist the pastor in the series of meetings.

WOMAN IS KILLED

Colored Mixup In South Christian and Fatal Shooting Saturday Night.

ON JOHN GARNETT FARM.

Courtney Henry Charged With The Murder of Sylvia Henry.

A negro woman named Sylvia Henry was shot and killed at John W. Garnett's farm, on the Clarks-ville pike, Saturday night. The killing was done, it is said, by Courtney Henry and the details are very meagre. It is said the woman was Henry's wife but had left him. A woman was charged with killing a negro man named Will Radford last spring in the same room.

Deputy Sheriff Chilton went to the scene Sunday night to arrest Henry, but failed to find him.

NUMBER THIRTEEN

Figured Somewhat in a Runaway Saturday.

The horse attached to Walker & Overby's delivery wagon became frightened Friday, near McLean College and ran off. He dashed down Ninth street and ran for several squares, turning into Thirteenth street until he reached Main. He then started North and in front of the home of S. Y. Trimble the wagon became uncoupled, which made him run all the harder, the wagon running into one of the trees in front of Mr. Trimble's residence. The horse was stopped on Main street, near Seventh. The young man in the wagon had rather a thrilling experience, but received no injuries. It was a long wild run, but not a thing broken, though the horse was somewhat bruised and the total loss was estimated at about 13 cents and the animal had made a record of running 13 squares.

MATRIMONIAL MARKET

For November Opens Up With a Rush.

From present indications there will be much doing in the matrimonial line during this month. Six or eight marriages are already announced. On November 1st license was issued for the marriage of Miss Nellie Donnelly and Mr. Eckley Goode. Yesterday licenses were issued for the union of Miss Margaret E. Simpson and Mr. Sherman Boyd and Miss Ella Sivley and Mr. J. W. Warfield.

What's In a Name.

The County Clerk of Todd is Gill and the name of the lady, whose name he refused to certify as a candidate for superintendent of schools, is Gillis, just two letters longer. The Republican candidate for the same office in this county, resigned his position in the High School to make the race. The Democratic candidate resigned as one of the faculty of McLean college to do the same thing. If the former is defeated he will take his place again, and if the latter is defeated the school board could not do better than to place him on the roll of teachers.

CITY HAS FULL TREASURY

Collector Richards Broke All Records For October Collections.

$54,000 WAS TAKEN IN.

Money To Burn But Court Injunction Says It Cannot Be Spent.

Collector John W. Richards during the month of October collected $54,000 of city taxes for 1913, about $18,000 of it last Saturday. There are about $23,000 of short term notes in the bank to be taken up at once and the city's liabilities will then be only $71,500 of bonds not due.

The decision in Circuit Court enjoined the city from making a contract for street improvements because $66,000 of the bonds were issued without a vote of the people and are classed as current debts and counting these as debts to be paid the city had only $24,000 to spend legally this year and will be similarly handicapped next year, if the decision stands in the higher court.

The contracts for water and street lights expire Nov. 16 and cannot be renewed, at least until after Jan. 1st. No money can be spent except for actual operating expenses of the city government, although the city will in a few days have a big cash balance in the Treasury.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP

Janitor of Court House Put Three Men to Flight.

Saturday night George Dabney, the colored janitor of the court house, saved himself from a supposed flogging by drawing his gun and showing fight when three men rushed out of an alley in front of the West Side public school building. George was on his way home about 9:30 and had reached the point named when the three men presented themselves and told him to hold his hands up. Dabney, who is a Democrat, didn't obey orders but drew his gun from his pocket, when the men, whom it is believed intended giving him a beating, took to their heels and Dabney opened fire upon them, emptying every chamber of his pistol. The night police, hearing the shots, ran out West Seventh street and found Dabney standing in the street with his empty pistol in his hand.

Hopkinsville Won.

Hopkinsville High School defeated Princeton High School at Princeton Saturday, 27 to 13. The game was hotly contested and two referees were used before the game was ended. Breathitt, Moss and Moseley starred for Hopkinsville. The Princeton fans crowded upon the field and there was much disorder and unfairness. Yesterday the Hopkinsville Athletic Association severed all connection with Princeton in athletics.

Another Wholesale House.

The S. Hartman Distilling Co. has bought out the saloon business of W. M. Jones, on Sixth street, and will on Nov. 7 apply to the council for a wholesale liquor license at the same stand.

Commonwealth's Attorney Sam Dixon and J. L. Dorsey, an attorney for the Imperial Tobacco Co., had an exchange of blows on the streets in Henderson Friday. Neither suffered any injury worth mentioning. They fought over a case in court.

LOOKS GOOD FOR ROOSTER

Reports From All Over the County Presage Big Victory.

FINE SPEAKING YESTERDAY

Campaign Closed With a Big Rally Last Night At Court House.

Everything looks rosy for Democratic victory today, all along the line. People were in town yesterday from all parts of the county and almost without exception the Democrats are jubilant and promise to carry their districts by increased majorities over 1909. On the other hand the Republicans are looking blue and are already crying "fraud" and claiming that the Democrats are preparing to spend money for votes.

The final rallies at several precincts Saturday were all well attended and the woods were shelled by practically all of the orators.

Yesterday afternoon Young Jim Breathitt was put forward to answer the speeches of his father, Judge Jim, and Messrs. Fowler and Feland. When the Kentuckian went to press, he was doing it to a queen's taste. Last night the last rally was held at the court house and there were a number of rousing speeches made by the Democratic candidates and others. It was a rouser and when this paper reaches the readers the ballots will be falling one by one into the 32 big ballot boxes that will tell the tale at four o'clock this afternoon.

Indications point to a sweeping Democratic victory in the county and city.

In the seven wards of the city there are only four contests and the Democrat in each of the wards is expected to win over the Independent by a decisive majority.

The seven voting places in the city are as follows:

No. 1 at Court House, No. 2 at West's Warehouse on Campbell St., No. 3 at Moayon Hall, No. 4 at Dabney's Warehouse, No. 5 at Mabry's Stable, No. 6 in R. E. Cooper's building, No. 7 at Reeder's Store.

The polls open at 6 a. m. and close at 8 p. m. In the city, voters must show their registration certificates and cannot vote without them. If one has been lost a duplicate can be obtained from the County Clerk by making affidavit and paying a fee of 50 cents.

The weather prediction for today is "cloudy and warmer."

FELL DOWN

Flight of 25 Steps and Knocked Unconscious.

Robert Horton, a colored boy, between 11 and 12 years of age, had a fall yesterday morning that came near costing him his life. He had reached the top of the stairway that leads to the old quarters of the Kentuckian office, now partly occupied by Miss Kennedy, when he tripped and fell and rolled down the steps to the concrete sidewalk. His head struck the concrete walk with such force that he was knocked unconscious. He was lifted up and carried upstairs and Miss Kennedy called a physician. After being treated he was sent to his home in a carriage.
